At the conclusion of Mr. Cox's remarks the House adjourned.

Lawlessness in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 3.—The excitement at Littleton incident to the arrest of seven of the gang of red men who have infested Weltzel county is very great. The names of prisoners are Amos Hemeleck, George Ullom, John Ullom, John Steward, John Hostaller, Eloy Butcher and John Lough. The men were to have been tried yesterday, but no Justice of the Peace could be found willing to risk his life in doing so, for several were notified by the red men that they would be killed if they assisted in bringing any of the gang to Justice. The services of Justice Louester, of Center district, have however been obtained, and the trial has been set down for to-day. Governor Matthews has taken very decided interest in the matter and is determined to have lawlessness crushed out. The prisoners have secured the services of Fountain Smith. About fifty men of the gang attacked the house of a prominet citizen of Mannington late Monday morning, but finding occupants well armed and prepared to receive them, deserted from their efforts and rode off.

Chemical Works Destroyed.

WOBURN, Mass., June 3.—The works of the Merrimac Chemical Company at North Woburn was discovered to be on fire last night, and the most valuable portion of the building were destroyed. The loss is estimated at from $60,000 to $75,000. It is believed to be fully insured. The lead chambers containing vitriol, were destroyed letting loose large quantities of vitriol which ran around in pools, making it very dangerous for the firemen. A. V. Weeks, bookeeper for the company fell into a large puddle of the vitriol and was badly burned, rendering his recovery doubtful. Several others were burned with vitriol.

A Charge not Sustained.

LONDON, June 3.—A Paris dispatch to the Times says the investigation into the expressions alleged to have been used by Monseiguer Forcade, Archbishop of Aix, with reference to M. North Carolina Board of Health.

Correspondence of the News.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 2, 1879.—We notice with pleasure the election of Dr. S. S. Satchwell, of Pender, as member and President of the State Board of Health, consummated under a late act of the Legislature, authorizing its institution. In this recognition of a faithful servant, the State Medical Society has honored itself as well as the gentleman thus named. But few men have done as much, and no man has done more for the elevation and solid improvement of his science in North Carolina; and as the originator of the sanitary scheme among his professional brethren in the State Association, and the promoter of its maturation in the General Assembly, he stands pre-eminent for his labors and professional ardor. Sacrificing his time, his money and his talents to the perfection of the original bill, he devoted the same untiring energy to the amendment that nas just completed it. Having had a large experience in hospital practice during the late war, and in which he was highly compimented by the Confederate authorities, he is not only eminently fitted for the post to which he has thus been called, but has elicited the pride and admiration of his people in Eastern North Carolina, and throughout the entire State.

University Series of School Books.

Correspondence of the News

JOHNSTON COUNTY, May 28.—I hope you will excuse me for trespassing on your columns. I have only a few words to say. As the time is not far distant when the question of adopting a regular system of school books to be used in the public schools of this State will agitate the public mind, I must raise my feeble voice in behalf of adopting the University series of school books. Presuming that every reading man and school teacher in this State are directly or indirectly (many personally) acquainted with the authors of the University series of school books; it would be futile for me to vindicate and laud them as authors of merit and ability. They are in my opinion as good as the best. These books are adopted to the wants of our people. They supply a desideratum long and much needed in the South. Shall we now while an opportunity presents itself reject this great desideratum? The authors of these series are as follows: Drs. Holmes, Venable, Maury, Schele, De Vere, Gildersleeve, and Prof. R. M. Johnson. Never in the history of education in this State has a more difficult problem been thrown upon the public mind to be solved. I hope the matter may be well considered.

A FRIEND TO POPULAR EDUCATION.

A Correction.

Correspondence of the News.

MESSRS. EDITORS: In your sketch of Mrs. Mary Bayard Clarke, which appeared in the NEWS of May 18th, no mention was made of her poem "Clytie and Zenobia," by which she is best known to the literary world. This poem was published after the appearance of "Living Writers of the South," from which your sketch was taken, which, by the by, was not written by the gentleman to whom you credit it but by James Wood Davison, from notes furnished by William B. Smith & Co., publishers of the Field and Fireside, who employed Mrs. Clarke for a short time as literary editor of that paper. It was while acting in this capacity that she commenced "Chalmette, a tale of Creole Life in Louisiana." The firm wished her to finish it for them after she left their editorial chair, but, as they refused to pay for it, she furnished no more copy: and they employed a distinguished member of the Raleigh bar to finish it, which, as he knew nothing whatever of Creole life, he did as a mere newspaper novelette. Mrs. Clarke has all the letters of William B. Smith & Company refusing to pay her, and says she is keeping them to make cartridges for Susan B. Anthony when she reaches this latitude. "Chalmette" was completed, by her, and she still has it in manuscript intending to publish it when she can afford to pay for it, as she did for "Clytie and Zenobia."

THE APPEARANCE OF MECKLENBURG FARM LANDS.

A General Swiftness---Fertilizers on the Old Fields---Effects of the Fence Law---Everybody Working.

Charlotte Observer.

A citizen of this county stopped a group of persons a few days ago and read them a part of a communication he had written the North Carolina Farmer, published in Raleigh, in which he had reported a conversation with a well known and intelligent farmer of the county who lives about five miles from Charlotte. The writer asked the farmer why it was that the people of his section of the country were buying more fertilizers and planting more cotton this year than usual. His reply was that by the existence of the stock law, farmers were enabled to utilize a large quantity of land which had been lying out for years, and which they could not have used to advantage had they been subjected to the expense of fencing it in. He added that this was not only true of his own section, but of other parts of the country in a more or less degree. For instance he would venture to say that within a mile from the road from his house to Charlotte, there were now in cultivation five hundred acres of old fields, some of which had not been tilled for forty years.

Those who heard the article, some of whom were persons engaged in farming themselves, and all of whom are familiar with the farming interests of the county, without exception confirmed the statements it contained, and went even further. It was remarked that nearly all the old fields in the county were, or at any rate the better portions of these were now under cultivation and others were being prepared for cultivation next year, and all this had been done with very little additional cost to the farmer; the waste places are literally being made to blossom like the rose. The only expense necessary to bring about this condition of affairs is incurred in the purchase of fertilizers, by the judicious use of which these fields are in the course of a year or two made as productive as any. It is confidently predicted that in the course of a few years the old broom-sedge fields so common throughout the State and for that matter throughout many of the Southern States, will be almost unknown in Mecklenburg, and their places will be seen rich crops of cotton, corn and wheat.

This revolution—for it is hardly short of revolution—could not be wholly ascribed, as a matter of course, to the existence of the stock law, although this has given the impetus which intelligent and industrious farmers have not been slow to take advantage of. It is a matter of fact that the farming classes are working, with greater energy and to a better purpose than ever before. It is universally conceded that the crop of cotton for instance is larger than ever before, and has scarcely ever been in better condition.

The farmers of Mecklenburg are progressive, intelligent and enterprising; they are recovering from the effects of the general depression and the low prices of cotton of the past few years, and to-day they are not inferior to those which any county in the State can boast.

When LaFayette, with the French allies, were on their way to Yorktown in 1781, they marched past a manor house, that had been built in 1732, and accidentally destroyed it by fire. Louis XVI, then rebuilt the house out of his private funds, the only house in Virginia built by a reigning severeign, until a few days ago, when it was again burned. It was used as a residence by the Presidents of William and Mary College.

THE LAWLESS SOUTH.

THE TERRIBLE STATE OF SOCIETY VIVIDLY PORTRAYED.

And the Peaceful Condition in the Well-Governed, God-Fearing State of Illinois.

The Chicago Tribune, not to be outdone by its Republican contemporaries, furnishes the following, and says, "Yet the people of the South wonder at the negro exodus, and that peaceful and law-abiding citizens should shun that section when seeking new homes for themselves and their children:"

Hernando Press: On Tuesday, 13th inst., Mr. Kim Armstead, Deputy Sheriff killed Leon Nelms, colored, for resisting arrest.

Brandon Republican: James Sullivan and a young man named Stewart were waylaid and shot at in Wayne county on the 11th inst. Sullivan was killed, but Stewart escaped. Both their horses were killed under them. No clew to the assassins.

Meridian Homestead: The Star gives an account of lawlessness in the Northwestern part of Attala county that is disgraceful, such as only could be expected from savages. Five or six armed men visited the plantation of Messrs. Joe and Dick Cross, captured a negro, who, in attempting to escape, was shot and wounded. A few nights afterward, the Star says, they again visited the same place and fired off their guns, to the terror of the negroes. On Tuesday night the fine dwelling on the place was fired, about 1 o'clock, and entirely consumed. The Messrs. Cross and a friend were sleeping in an outhouse near by, and saw about six men walking off, the flames lighting up the woods for a considerable distance. They were not near enough to fire upon them with certainty, and so they escaped.

It was hardly necessary for the Tribune to go so far away for instances of lawlessness, as the same issue contained about three columns of criminal affairs occurring within States bordering on its own. We will, however confine ourselves to Illinois. The first is as follows:

Accounts are received of the disgraceful conduct of the members of the Illinois Legislature on their pleasure-excursion to Chester. They drank and gambled and carried on a protracted debauch, and conducted themselves as disgracefully as possible—which speaks volumes, for their possibilities in this direction have long since been demonstrated to be illimitable.

QUINCY, Ill., May 27.—The negro tramp who committed an assault upon a lady at a farmhouse near this city a few weeks ago, has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for forty-eight years. He was convicted on three similar indictments, sentenced on one to twenty years, and on the others for fourteen years each. He is now thirty years old.

QUINCY, Ill., May 27.—James Wilson, the brother of the murderer Zach Wilson, has been captured and sent to prison. James broke jail at Carthage after being convicted of complicity in the murder of McDonald, at Plymouth, and has been at large for some months. He was arrested on Monday at the residence of his father-in-law, near Plymouth. He was found concealed in a box.

The citizens of Anburn have given notice to Hazzard, the bank defaulter, who is confined in the jail in that place, that, unless he make a satisfactory settlement between this and morning, they will lynch him. They are making preparations to carry their threat into effect. A United States Marshal reached there to-day and wanted to take Hazzard to Indianapolis, but the citizens refused to release him. The excitement is intense.

JOLIET, Ill., May 27.—Four convicts named George Butts, John Trainer, Frank McKinney, and John Davis were discharged from the Penitentiary this morning after having served one year each for a burglary at Galesburg, and were met here by Butts' brother, William, when the five men started in for a drunken spree. They were finally ordered out of town, and started west on the Rock Island Railroad track. After crossing the river bridge they engaged in a free fight, and during the melee McKinney was shot in the back and half of his right ear was bit off. The wounded man was taken to the Bridewell and a physician summoned, who says the man cannot survive.

A Festival in the Mountains

The people of Western North Carolina are fully alive to the importance of the completion of the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad to Henderson and the inauguration of a fast day schedule between Charleston and the mountains. A mass meeting of the citizens of Henderson county was held at Hendersonville on Monday last for the purpose of arranging a grand demonstration in honor of the event. It was decided to give a grand barbecue on the 4th of July, to which everybody will be invited. Governor Jarvis and Lieutenant-Governor Robinson, of North Carolina, have already accepted invitations to be present, and it is more than probable that Governor Simpson will also grace the occasion with his presence. The Hendersonville Courier says that letters from a prominent railway official state that over a thousand excursionists from Charlotte, Augusta, Columbia, Charleston will be present to attend the celebration in honor of the union of the seaboard and the mountains.

Poor Prospect for Petroleum Producers.

The Oil City Derrick states in a resume of the month of May that three hundred and ninety wells were completed in the oil regions with a production of 9,002 barrels. Compared with the report for the month of April there is an increase of one hundred and twenty-two completed wells whose yield is 2,949 barrels daily, more than the production furnished by all the wells finished the previous month. There is a falling off in the number of rigs up and building and the number drilling, and from these comparisons it may be inferred that next month will show another short decline. Editorially the Derrick says: "Not one element of the outlook at the present time has a true counterpart in any preceding period. In 1874, when the market declined to 40 cents, the outlook was bright as compared with the present."

A Call for the Champion "Mixer."

Cincinnati Enquier.

The Democrats should profit in every way they can by the example as well as by the mistakes of their opponents. Mr. Foster has announced his intention of being a mixer over the length and breadth of the State. The Democrats will make no mistake if they send their best mixer to follow or accompany him. Two years ago Governor Bishop got thousands of votes because of his urbanity and tact in going around among the people. He didn't make many speeches and we really doubt if what he did make secured him any votes. But in the way of mixing amoug the people he achieved his greatest success. By party precedent he is entitled to a renomination. Because he has never been beaten in any contest he entered he has the claim of good luck upon the party. Because his admistration has been dignified and honest and acceptable to the people of the State, he is entitled to an endorsement. But all these things have been said of him before. At this time we are willing to ignore them and base his title to renomination on the ground that he is the best mixer the Democratic party has in Ohio, and can be elected.

THE LION OF HONG KONG.

Reception of General Grant by United States and British Officials ---Mosby Doing the Honors.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The following advices were brought by the steamer Oceanic, which arrived here to-day from Hong Kong, via Yokohama, bringing eight hundred and thirty-seven Chinese:

HONG KONG, May 8.—General Grant's visit absorbs public attention everywhere. He arrived at Saigon on Friday evening, April 25th, in the French mail steamship Lawaddy. He and his party were invited by Rear Admiral La Foud, Governor of French Cochin China, to sojourn at the government house. They passed the night there, and the next day visited public buildings and places of interest. A public levee was given on the evening of the 26th. The guest returned to the ship at midnight and the voyage was resumed on the 27th.

They reached Hong Kong on the evening of April 30th. The ship was boarded by the United States Consuls Mosby, of Hong Kong; Lincoln, of Canton; Charge d'Affaires Holcombe, and deputations of citizens of various countries including Japan. The same evening the visitors proceed to the United States ship Ashuelot, where they were received with a salute of twenty-one guns. After partaking of refreshments they went ashore in the colonial government launch, amid renewed salutes from the Ashuelot and the Japanese corvette Nishin. They were received at a decorated landing pier by Governor Hennessy and staff, members of the legislative council, heads of the military and naval services, guard of honor, and a multitude of American, European and Chinese spectators. After introductions they were escorted to the government house. Many streets were adorned with flags, etc., and houses were illuminated. On May 1st General Grant called upon Consul Mosby, and informally inspected localities of importance. On May 2d he held a public reception at the United States consulate and dined with Chief Justice Sir John Snale. On May 3d he attended a State dinner at the government house, Felicitous addresses of Governor Hennessy were warmly commended by the Americans. General Grant responded briefly and effectively, giving the sentiment of "Goodwill and alliance between Britons and Americans." On May 5th the party started for Canton on the Ashuelot, escorted by the Chinese gunboat. Salutes were fired by batteries all along the river.

THE RECEPTION IN CANTON.

They were received at Canton on May 6 by the consular officials, and conducted to the Viceroy's yamen, three miles from the point of debarkation. At least one hundred thousand persons witnessed the little procession, and perfect order prevailed on all sides. The visitors were greeted by the Viceroy and attendant officials with great form and ceremony. Seven guns were fired, and troops were stationed in every available locality. The visitors partook of a luncheon, consisting of eighty courses, which were served in rapid succession. Subsequently they made a brief visit to the Portuguese settlement of Macao, where they were received with the usual manifestations of courtesy and respect. The few remaining days will be devoted to receptions, entertainments by European and Chinese parties, a public garden gathering on May 10th in which the whole community will participate, etc. The visitors expect to leave Kong Kong for the North on May 11. They will touch at Amoy and Foo Chow, and arrive at Shanghai about the 18th, thence, so far as yet decided, to Tien Tsin and Pekin, after which probably direct from Chafoo to Nagasaki.

THE JAPANESE RECEPTION.

YAKOHAMA, May 16.—Preparations continue for the reception of General Grant on a grand scale. Several high officials have been added to the committee of reception and entertainment, among whom is Sayezima, former minister of Foreign Affairs. The iron-clad steamship Toaso, the finest in the Japanese navy, has been dispatched to Nagasaki to await the arrival of General Grant and party. The entire party will be invited to leave the Ashuelot and take up quarters on board the Japanese flagship as guests of his Imperial Majesty. The present expectation is that General Grant will proceed by sea from Nagasaki to Hiogo, and thence through Kioto, the ancient capital, by land, three hundred miles to Tokio. Nothing, however, is positively decided. From present appearances he will not reach the Japanese seat of government before July.

A Voodoo Swindler.

Washington Star.

Recently the police have received several complaints from colored people that they have been swindled by a "voudoo doctor." One of them the other day stated that being assured of good luck he agreed to put $40 in a rag with a stone to get it to grow to $500, and when he saw the man put the money in the rag he was sure that it was there and the doctor put it in his hand, but when he opened it he didn't find the money which was to grow, or anything but the stone. This morning a colored man named Wm. Smith arrived here in search of his brother and the "voudoo" took him in hand, telling him that he had influence and he could arrange it so as he could get work wherever he wanted it. The unsophisticated William was finally induced to give him $4 for this valuable consideration and in return received a card which he was directed to present to any party with whom he wanted to work. William presented the card and getting a repulse he came to the conclusion that he had been duped and thereupon informed to police.

Changing the Bearing of Trees.

Hartford Courant.

Mr. Charter showed me a very interesting and successful trial of changing the bearing year of apple trees. Two fall greening trees bore fine fruit together and every other year. Stripping the blossoms from one of them has now caused the trees to bear alternately. He has one or two of his golden sweet trees under the same treatment. It cost a day's work, of a man—or $1.25—to deflower each tree. It seems as if we might snip the blossoms or young apples on in a bunch, leaves and all, if we liked, since that would be releasing the tree from hard service for one season.

According to the latest census of Austria, there are in that country one hundred and eighty-three men and two hundred and twenty-nine women who have reached or passed the age of a hundred years.

COLORED JURIES.

DECISION OF JUDGE CHRISTIAN IN THE MATTER.

The Colored Men of Richmond ask to be Summoned as Jurors.---The Judge's Sound Answer.

At Richmond, Judge Christian of the Hustings Court on Tuesday, gave his answer to the petition of the committee of colored citizens asking him to summon as jurors all persons entitled to serve and whose names may appear upon the poll books without discrimination between white and black men. The petition was presented in conformity with a resolution adopted by the convention of colored people held in that city May 19th, for the purpose of considering measures for the amelioration and improvement of the condition of the colored race. Judge Christian, in answer, says, that after calm and deliberate consideration he concerns fully in the reasons given by his predecessor, the late Judge Guigon, for refusing the petition asking that colored persons accused of crimes be tried by colored jurors. The form and substance of the present petition, however, being different, and the laws for summoning juries in his court having been changed, he deems it necessary to give a somewhat different answer.

He quotes from the laws prescribing the qualifications of jurors and the manner in which they shall be summoned, and says there can be no question that the State has the right to prescribe the mode in which jurors shall be selected and summoned, and trials conducted in its courts. This he sustains by numerous citations of high legal authorities, including Judges Marshall, Taney, Chase, Waite, and all judges and text-writers who are worth quoting, both before and since the adoption of the recent amendments to the Federal Constitution, and claims, that the State of Virginia having exclusive right to do so has through its Legislature conferred on him the duty of furnishing lists from which juries in his court shall be taken.

He recognizes the equality of the colored people before the law, and that they are liable to serve on juries and says he will summon them for such service on them as he deems it best for the proper enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth. The only principle which has governed or will hereafter govern him in the discharge of the duty of selecting jurors is that which will enable him to comply with the law, and at the same time secure the best material for its proper enforcement. On this point he says, "When I find that I can best do this by selecting colored jurors, I will do so, but not till then. If I were disposed to do so it would be simply impossible for me to select all persons entitled to serve and whose names appear on the poll books, as prayed for in this petition, and at the same time comply with the law which says I must select only such as I think will qualify as jurors. There are hundreds in this city, both of white and colored, of whom I have no opinion one way or the other, persons whom I never can, or never will select, knowing nothing of their qualifications. If I were to select some colored jurors now with hundreds of jury duty that I know of to select from, such selection would be made simply because they were colored, and, as was well said by my predecessors, I would then be applying a test of qualifications condemned by the spirit, at least of the XIVth Congressional Amendment and civil rights bill. Nothing that I have said or done or can say or do is needed; no additional legislation is necessary to render colored citizens more liable under the law than they now are to jury duty. Education, elevation of character and legal qualifications are the only things that I know of necessary to render persons liable to such duty in this court, and my experience has taught me that the first two prerequisites are not attained by admittance to the jury box, but must be had before hand. No one can appreciate the colored people of this community more highly than I do, or sympathises in any grievance that they may labor under. I was raised in their midst and hope to die with the same surroundings, but I do not understand from their petition, that they have been aggrieved by any thing I have done except I have not compelled them to bear one of the burdens to which the law has made them liable."

In conclusion, Judge Christian says as before stated: "I have in the past selected the best material I could find liable to discharge the important trusts to be confided to them and I expect to do the same in future, with an eye single to what I understand to be my duty under the law, and what I believe to be for the best and highest interest of all classes in community. I will file their petition and continue to put only such persons on a jury as I think well qualified, as the law requires me to do."

When Mt. Airy and Wilmington are connected by one unbroken line of railway better days will dawn upon us, We can ship our products and get our groceries in thirty-six hours. Then we will have better times. Our farmers will get good prices for what they sell and get the things they are compelled to have at the lowest prices. After the road is completed, we will have Wilmington at our own doors and we will be at Wilmington's doors.

Judge Schenck has delighted Cemetery Keeper Rooke's heart by sending him a wild goose to mate the one which has ornamented the lake for months. As soon as Mr. Rooke can break up certain matrimonial alliances now existing between him of wild variety and a tame goose he will endeavor to make a match between the two high-flyers.

During the morning service at St. Peter's Episcopal church Sunday, while the rector, Rev. Z. Doty, was repeating the general prayer for rulers, representatives in the national councils, &c., his voice gradually grew weaker and finally ceased altogether. Several persons approached him and found that he had fainted, his head having fallen on the chair near which he was kneeling. He was conveyed to the vestry room, and revived in a few moments, but was unable to close the services. The occurrence was attributed to the excessive heat in the chancel at the time, it having been cut off from all ventilation by the closing of the vestry-room door.

Speaking of big collards, a correspondent at Fremont writes that Mr. H. W. Godwin, living about one mile from that place, found in his cotton field last year a collard that "measured thirteen feet in diameter, and was over thirteen feet high," and adds: "If any of your readers doubt the statement, you can be furnished with certificates." Well, that will do. We shall adopt that measurement for our standard during the remainder of the season, and respectfully give notice to all interested in the collard question that nothing short of it will be mentioned in our columns.

THE MANHATTAN BANK BURGLARY.

The Mystery Solved--Confession of one of the Burglars.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The whole story of the Manhattan Bank burglary has at last come out through the confession of one of the burglars. On Saturday night Capt. Byrnes and his detectives, who have worked unceasingly on the case, arrested Henry Glenn, Patrick Slevin and Wm. Kelly, on a charge of being implicated in the robbery, whereby money and securities worth nearly three million dollars were stolen on the night of Oct. 27, 1878. One of them has confessed the whole plot to Captain Byrnes. The robbery was planned more than three years ago. A burglar known as "Little Tracy" first concocted the scheme, and organized a band of burglars to rob the bank. It was broken up, however, by the arrest and conviction of most of the members of the gang for other crimes. Then he organized a second gang, in which were Jimmy Hope, George Howard, John Dobbs, Jim Brady and others. They also had in league with them a man who was employed as watchman at odd hours in the bank. Two attempts were made by this gang to rob the bank, but each failed through the inability of the watchman to meet his engagement.

This gang also broke up. But Hope, thoroughly convinced of the feasibility of his scheme, lost no time in reorganizing his forces. Dobbs, ("Big Kidd,") who was on foot again, and others equally skilled and desperate, joined him, and work began in earnest. On Sunday morning, when the friendly watchman was on duty in the bank, Hope was let into the building and used his opportunity to thoroughly examine the vaults. The next Sunday he returned and taught the watchman how to use wax in taking impressions of a keyhole. The watchman, Patrick Slevin, was an apt scholar, and soon returned a lump of wax which the burglar had brought with an impression, from which the latter was able to make a key for the outer street door on Bleecker street, which was found to fit and was put by for use. This attempt also failed for want of time, but an entrance to the vault containing the negotiations were again opened with the watchman, Slevin.

Finally the job was put up for Sunday morning, October 27, and in it were Jimmy Hope, Kelly and Dobbs, together with the night watchman, Slevin. It was thought that Slevin would have charge of the bank on that night, but an accident frustrated it. The gang resolved, however, to carry out their plans after the night watchman had left and when the day watchman came on. How well it has been carried out every one knows, and nearly three millions of dollars were carried away. Billy Kelly stood guard over the manacled janitor. He gave them the combination to the safe, being in mortal terror of his life. Detectives went hard to work. After a long search, John Dobbs and the younger Hope were arrested. Watchman Slevin was shadowed early and late, and was found to be drinking hard and spending money lavishly. He was arrested a few days ago and finally confessed the whole plot to Captain Byrnes, and Billy Kelly was arrested on his return from the Jerome Park races.

Slevin says that each member of the gang was assessed $600 after getting their money share, which was sent to Washington to defeat the bill introduced in Congress to duplicate the stolen bonds, as if it passed it would be difficult to negotiate the originals. Meanwhile the various town bonds stolen were negotiated, and Slevin got $2,000 as his share therefrom, and Jimmy Hope when to Washington to have the bill stopped. Kelly, when arrested, denied his guilt, but when confronted with Slevin he burst out into a fit of swearing, and said, "The bank had to pay a dividend on June 1st, and to do it would have to come to terms and settle with us." There are three more members of the gang yet at large, but they are known and will soon be arrested. The trial of the the younger Hope will begin Wednesday.

LETS THURMAN OUT.

How the Nominations at Cincinnati are Regarded at Washington.

Philadelphia Record.

The nomination of Foster on the first ballot caused considerable surprise in Washington. The contest between Foster and Taft was known to be a sharp contest between the Sherman and Grant elements in Ohio, and it was thought that the Grant element could defeat Foster and force Sherman to run if they could not nominate Taft. The Ohio Democrats in Washington are exceedingly pleased at Foster's nomination. They consider it the weakest that could have been made, and are now confident of carrying the State in the fall. Senator Thurman says Foster's nomination is as thirty thousand votes to the Democrats. Representative McMahon says it is worth ten thousand votes to the Democrats at least. They say Foster's nomination has offended the German element, because Taft was their pet. It has offended the negro element because they think Foster sold out the colored element in Louisiana when he helped to instal the Nicholls government. Last but not least, it has offended the stalwart element, for it is an unmistakable victory for Sherman and the first black eye the Grant movement has received. The nomination changes the entire nature of the Ohio campaign. It will have now no national significance. Senator Thurman will not magnify Foster for running against him, and the Democrats in Washington say he is not now called on to run and they can beat Foster with either Bishop or Ewing. The latter's friends would like to see the ticket made Ewing and Rice, and say that combination would certainly carry the State. On the other hand Sherman's friends are confident Foster will be elected, and it would be so severe a rebuff for the admiuistration to have him defeated that the sinews of war will doubtless be forthcoming in abundance and a vigorous fight made.

THE WINDING UP.

THE CLOSING SCENES IN THE LITTLEFIELD CASE YESTERDAY.

The Case is Decided and Littlefield Discharged---An Interview with Major Badger.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated late about one Milton S. Littlefield. Numerous conjectures have been made as to the final disposition of his habeas corpus case in Florida. The finale came yesterday afternoon. It was announced by a special dispatch to Major R. C. Badger, who had just returned from Jacksonville, where he had been, as before stated, as counsel in the case of the Florida Railroads, being retained on the part of certain bondholders. Major Badger was very tired. He had been traveling since last Saturday and had retired to his room in the Tucker House.

"Wouldn't the NEWS representative call to-morrow?"

"The public is very much interested in the Littlefield case, and if Major Badger would kindly consent to unburden himself it would be a great relief to the public mind."

"Show the gentleman up."

Thereupon the reporter was in his room in a jiffy.

"Well Major, I'm glad to see you. Everybody wants to know what you know."

"I understand; take a seat and let's go to work." And then he recounted how he had gone to Florida and went on to say, "the requisition was as much of a surprise to me as it was to Littlefield. I felt when I heard of it as I feel now that it was a mere political trick. This man has been the Cheap John material by which several politicians have undertaken to rule."

"How? say that over and say it slow."

"I repeat, this is so——"

"I beg pardon Major."

"Never mind, my dear sir. If you want to interview me you must put down what I say."

"That is so!"

"Very well. Let me see where did I leave off. Oh! yes. A wrong impression is sought to be created, that this man is the only criminal in North Carolina, and other and larger men are to be concealed thereby."

"I have heard this before, Major, you think it is so?"

"There's no doubt of it. If they will only bring him to N. C., armed with papers which he showed me when in Jacksonville, there will be a

HOWL FROM DAN TO BEERSHEBA.

Littlefield never paid money. He always gave order checks. I saw the signatures of certain gentlemen that I recognized at once, the others can be proven. It would astonish you to see them,"

"All right, Major, Barkis is willing—now then——astonish me."

"Oh! no; not yet. The time has not come yet. But it will come, mark my words."

And the reporter "marked them."

"Well Major, what about the habeas corpus case?"

"Why, of course, any sane man Littlefield to come to North Carolina. However, he was willing to come, and so stated to me. He knew of the requisition before Lee reached Florida, and he said to me he was going back with him and see the thing out. I advised him against it, unless there was some understanding about the amount of bond, as it might result in his imprisonment. He took my advice with great reluctance.

The citizens of Jacksonville are on his side, not that they justify his conduct at all, but they believe this movement to be a political trick. Even the judges, including the highest, say they are tired of Florida's being made the trap-vall in North Carolina politics and notwithstanding his known faults, both in North Carolina and Florida, owing to these persecutions he is so far martyrized, that I don't believe that even the judiciary of Florida can remove him."

"That's pretty strong, ain't it, Major?"

"It's strong, but it is a fact."

"Have you heard from the case to-day?"

"Yes, I have a telegram from Heibert who was counsel with me in the case, as follows:

"The case is decided in Littlefield's favor. After Judge Archibald discharged him, he rose and said I will telegraph to the Governor of North Carolina to-day that if he will establish a reasonable bail for me I will go to North Carolina and stand my trial. I will await his answer."

"I wish you would give me just one of those names on the checks you spoke of, Major?"

"Oh! no; not yet, and besides it would be a breach of trust. But it will all come out in due time."

The reporter made several passes at the Major, but he said he was too tired to answer any more questions. If he would call to-morrow he would give him some little details about Captain Lee's visit to Jacksonville that would be interesting reading, he had no doubt.

Governor Jarvis was called on, though serene, as is his wont, a trace of impatience was now and then discernible on his calm exterior. He was disappointed, it was true, but after all he could not have expected anything better from such a trial. The matter would not rest here. It was no child's play he was engaged in.

"Have you received Littlefield's telegram yet, Governor?"

"No sir, I have received no telegram from Mr. Littlefield. I don't understand you?"

"Why! Major Badger informed me Mr. Littlefield would telegraph you today."

"I don't know anything about it."

"Have you no advices from Jacksonville?"

"No, sir. I have heard that the case was decided against us."

"Yes sir, that is so."

I am told Littlefield will come if you will fix his bond reasonable, and stand trial any way."

"I have nothing to do with establishing a bond. That is for the judge to do."

The reporter did not understand how it was that Littlefield was coming back to Raleigh and supposed it must all be "fudge" after all.

The press telegram last night, stated that the Judge held in his decision:

1st. Defect in indictment.

2d. Barred by statute.

3d. That defendant was not a fugitive from justice.

Thus ends the story about Littlefield and others.

The sequel is in course of preparation, no doubt, and will be published some of these days.

James Logan a private detective, who has spent much time on the Charlie Ross case, claims to have in his possession positive evidence that the missing boy is alive and well at this date, and predicts that the mystery of the bduction will soon be solved.

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

WEBSTER AND THE REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

Referring to the recent debates over the Appropriation bills the Boston Post says:

Messrs. Blaine and Conkling have struck just the right vein in going to the speeches and writings of Daniel Webster. If they would make up their speeches altogether from such quotations as Mr. Webster can abundantly supply them with, they may rely on making lasting reputations for themselves at no greater expense than that of their lungs.

Our old Whig readers have not forgotten the abuse heaped upon their great chief by the abolitionists because he was willing to compromise for the sake of the Union; because he was willing to enforce the constitution in its letter and spirit; because he was willing to make any reasonable sacrifice to avert civil war and its awful consequences; because he "knew no North, no South, no East, no West"—nothing but the country, and the whole country. From the day he delivered his famous compromise speech until the day of his death, no epithet was too vile to apply to him. Since his death he has received from Republicans treatment similar to that bestowed upon him by abolitionists. He was "a Northern dough-face," "the tool of slave-holders," "a traitor to liberty," and much more of the same sort. All this was bad enough, but not so bad as the attempt now being made by the Republican leaders to use Webster's name and fame to assist their schemes. Blaine and Conkling have about as much appreciation of his governing principles and national policy as they have of Newton's "Principia." He was a statesman; they are only demagogues. He could see the whole country; their vision cannot reach beyond the lines of party. They have just brains enough to steal from him, but neither head nor heart enough to grasp his meaning—much less imitate his example. If the giant were alive, how he would sit down on these pigmies.

THE Director of the Mint states that the production of silver and gold in this country during the past year, as nearly as can be ascertained, will show a large decrease as compared with last year. The production of gold and silver last year was $95,000,000, and the estimated production for the present year is $65,000,000, showing a decrease of $30,000,000, which is about equally divided between the two metals. The cause of the decrease in silver production is probably accounted for by the falling off in the yield of the silver mines in this country, but while the supply of silver has been considerably lessened, the demand of late has very perceptibly increased. Russia and Spain have both recently entered the silver market, and with the United States have become purchasers in the London market. Silver has advanced [illegible] man Government has not, as usual, "beared" the market by throwing in a supply from the surplus reserve. It is stated that the subsidiary coinage of Germany will soon be increased, and for that reason the government is holding in its present supply, which is now estimated to be about eighteen millions.

THE Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier waxes jubilant in a double-leaded editorial over the completion of railroad connections with the western parts of South and North Carolina. It says: "Before this season, the trains on the South Carolina, Spartanburg and Asheville, and Greenville and Columbia Railroads have run without break, in the day-time, to the mountains, but they never before pierced the very heart of the Blue Ridge, or made the journey with so little of the delay which is proverbially dangerous. Fourteen and and a half hours to Greenville; sixteen hours to Walhalla; ten hours and a half to Spartanburg; fourteen hours to Hendersonville; eighteen hours (by rail and stage) to Asheville! This is what is accomplished by unity of purpose and concert of action. It will seem a small thing, no doubt, to the "madding crowd" who are accustomed to the system and celerity of Northern travel, but to the people of the Carolinas it is a significant event, marking the development of railroad management, and giving assurance that Southern railroads, when their managers put their wits to werk, can do as much for the public convenience and their own advantage as is done by any railroads in the Union."

MR. HAYES labors diligently to make it appear that the laws as they stand at present were necessary and have given satisfaction. We say labors, for it seems not to have been sufficient to enunciate it thus in his late vetoes, but he must announce it to every interviewer who attempts to find bottom in sounding him, but he only succeeds in showing the difficulty of the task he has undertaken. He attempts, by likening elections for Representatives to those for Senators, to show that Federal supervision, with marshals to back it and enforce it, is eminently proper; but he could not have made a more unfortunate illustration. It would be quite as competent for Congress to send deputy supervisors and deputy marshals into the halls of State Legislatures to institute a system of supervision over the elections of Senators, as it is to send them to the polls to supervise the popular voice; but there is no "stalwart" sufficiently bold to suggest that such supervision be attempted, though some Republican Legislatures have been the scene of greater frauds in the election of Senators than was ever witnessed in an election for Representative.

MR. HAYES' sonorous declaration that interference with the colored exodus would be "rebellion" has been caught up by the New York Tribune, Albany Evening Journal, and others of the "stalwart" press with as much exultation as they manifested over the idiotic suggestion that it would be "revolution" for Congress to exercise its constitutional powers in a manner heretofore pronounced by the Republicans as valid. Verily, they smell the battle from afar off—and they will always keep their distance. If some check is not put upon these organs, they will persuade Hayes soon that he is a statesman, and then there will be no end of trouble for the party. Once imbued with that idea, the nephew of his uncle will insist upon a second term, all previous pledges to the country notwithstanding.

"THE principal question," says Mr. Chandler's organ "is not whom can the Republican party nominate for President, but whom can it elect?" This indicates a good deal of falling off in Republican confidence. Time was, and that not very long ago, when the party and the organs thought they could elect anybody whom they saw fit to nominate. We should be glad to help the organ in this matter, if it were possible, but we really do not know whom the Republican party can elect. There is Grant, for instance, and Chandler, and Sherman, and Blaine and a host of others; but the candidate whose election is possible has not shown up yet. We doubt if he ever will, though it would be a pity to have so promising a conundrum as that of the organ remain eternally unanswered.

THE Springfield Republican, a Massachusetts journal that tries to be as fair-minded as the effects of its old teachings will allow it, is thus ironically taken to task by the Boston Journal:

The Republican yearns to have either Wade Hampton, Lamar, Gordon or Vance deliver the Fourth of July oration in Springfield. Possibly Mr. Jefferson Davis, who now has no Congressional duties to attend to, may be able to accept and supply the patriotic instruction that seems so much to the liking of the Republican.

To which the Republican rather sententiously replies:

Not a bad suggestion. That "man without a country," who so disturbs the peace of mind of the Massachusetts Senators and the Journal editors, would be found to be a scholarly, harmless old party. This might surprise some Northern people, but it would well serve to counteract certain pernicious teaching lately too current up here.

HON. THOMAS EWING, Representative from Ohio, speaks thus in regard to the supervision that appears to the President and his coadjutors so necessary for the preservation of the purity of the ballot as well as peace at the polls:

If it be true that the people of this country cannot be trusted to hold Congressional elections conducted by State officers under State laws, without the intervention of the Federal civil and military power, without troops and marshals and spies to watch and command their officers and drag them for disobedience to remote courts for trial and punishment—if the people have become so corrupt that good government requires that they should be subjected to this despotic and hateful espionage—then our Republic is already rotten and its foundation built on stubble.

THE people prove to be much more four per centsible than the Government had supposed them to be.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The people? By the way the $10 certificates were gobbled by boys and girls that couldn't raise ten cents of their own [illegible] posed that it was the speculators instead of the class for whom the certificates were designed. The percentage of sense that the people possess will not at the next election prove very satisfactory to that portion of the Government occupying the White House.

THE acquittal of Hon. Noble A. Hull, indicted for fraud in the November election in Florida, is a severe set-back to the administration. It was confidently expected that he would be convicted, and thus not only would a Democratic seat in Congress be vacated but some pretext would be afforded for further prosecutions. It may be expected that the outrage mill in Florida will now be closed for the season.

THE startling announcement is made that Secretary Evarts is only waiting for the Sherman movement to subside when he will announce himself a candidate for the Presidency. One letter from Evarts throws a chill over the whole country. If he enters the Presidential race a series may be expected. From this affliction there seems to be no escape.

GOVERNOR DREW, of Florida, was a New Hampshire boy. He now owns 60,000 acres of land, and employs four hundred men in getting out lumber. He runs tramways into the forests.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The colored Republicans of Ohio were for Taft and one of their leaders predicted that Foster's nomination would cost the party 5,000 votes.

If, as Republican partisans affect to believe and recklessly assert, there be anything wanting in the election laws of the State of New York or of the State of Massachusetts, for instance, to secure a fair election, why have not the Republican Legislatures of those States provided it? The Republican Legislature of New York, overwhelming in its majority, has adjourned without ever even suggesting the necessary amendment to our election laws to secure fairness in the poll next November, when the Federal Government will have no pretext for interference, and when the people of New York are to elect a full Legislature and all their State officers—the most important ticket ever voted for under the State government.—Rochester Union.

The object had at heart by Mr. Sherman was and is to checkmate the Grant movement. Sherman is administration candidate for the next Presidency, and the administration being now in full feather with the stalwarts, it can with every reason expect to exercise a wide influence in shaping Republican politics for the future, and in playing an important part in the manipulation of the next National Convention. The recent letter of Mr. Sherman to Mr. Haskin, of New York, acquires a new significance in view of the above. Mr. Sherman there declares for national supremacy in national matters, and he puts himself forward as a candidate for the Presidency in words which cannot be mistaken. The election is a national matter, and Mr. Sherman's letter means that the administration will never surrender the Federal election laws, and that the administration, and he personally, propose to stand by that issue for the next campaign. This letter was submitted to the President before it was sent to the gentleman to whom it was addressed. These developments have made the Grant men look very grave, as they show that Mr. Sherman can call General Grant on the stalwart idea, or, if need be, go him one etter.

Oatmeal for Dyspepsia.

In the last five years the consumption of Oatmeal in this country has probably increased twenty-fold. People differ so much in their likes and dislikes that we do not insist on anybody eating oatmeal because somebody else does, but the great growth of its popularity as an anti-dyspeptic is beyond doubt. Generally the Irish and Scotch Meals are considered best, but they sell comparatively high, and persons who have used both say that the Canadian and American Meals are just as good; these latter retail for 4½c. per lb. against 12c. for former.
Oatmeal should be well cooked. As it is usually made it may be soaked over night, and then boiled like mush for, say half an hour. No doubt it is most wholesome eaten plain, but the temptation to use various dressings—generally sugar or cream—is too strong for any but very firm seekers, but where these are taken it should be as the Friends say, in "moderation."

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C. Teem ur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.
Rev. Drs Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.) It is endorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapentical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.
Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va.
Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.
Rev. R. L. Dabney, L. L. Col., Va.
It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for Indigestion and Flatulent Colic, sedative, sop rific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.
Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Cont,
About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.
Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va.
I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For protraction from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.
J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.
It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.
Editor Richmond Christian Advocate.
This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,
THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.
Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:
It does not destroy the draft.
It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.
It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.
It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)
It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.
It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.
It can be attached to any boiler.
No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.

How the Sherman Boom Commenced.

Atlanta Constitution.

It is a little singular that the biggest rumble in John Sherman's boom should have been thrown into the affair through mistake. I allude, as a matter of course, to the resumption rattle. The resumption business, so-called—for, really, it is nothing more than equalization literally and technically, and scarcely even that—was invented, or devised, or discovered by the now moribund reformer, Bristow. He insisted upon putting the machinery for its consummation in motion in the face of public opinion, and when the astute Sherman stepped into the unfortunate man's shoes, he found the concern in full blast. That he should have taken advantage of the situation is by no means surprising, but that the patriots of the Republican party, who are envious of John Sherman's great popularity with the money-rings, the national banks and the capitalists, should soon forget the services of Bristow is rather astonishing. But, after all, what does it matter? A man as honest as Bristow is supposed to be, wouldn't be popular in the Republican party were he to make it a habit to save the country politically and financially three times a day and once every Sunday.

"Jimmy-the-Duck."

"Jimmy-the-Duck," of Virginia City, Nev., is dead. He made his living by a queer invention. He used to put a duck in a box, with its head sticking out of a hole, and allow the crowd to throw clubs at it for 25 cents a throw, the bird belonging to whoever should hit it. The ducks would of course "duck" their heads just before the sticks whizzed along, and it was not often more than once in six months that Jimmy would lose. The following is his epitaph: "Old Jimmy's bones are now resting peacefully under the sage-brush. Let us hope that when the trump of the resurrection shall echo over the rugged peak of Mount Davidson he will be able to pop his head up like that famous duck, and should the devil appear and make a grab for the old man, may he dodge back successfully."

Political Nuts.

"Is not law and rule rampant?" asked a Chicago Socialist. "No sir; on the contrary, all is peace." That statesman is bound to be on the contrary, or on nothing.

William A. Wheeler is still extracting the backbones of the fishes of Northern New York, and studying them with a view to future emergencies.

After all, perhaps we might not seriously object to the use of troops to preserve the peace at the Republican primaries.

The War Democrats are cutting their hair short, for fear that John Sherman will catch hold of them.

The publication of the Sherman letter is "regretted" by "leading Republicans" at Washington because "tending to draw the fire of all candidates for Presidential nomination in the Republican party."

Representative Conger, of Michigan, is "free to say that, as matters stand today, Mr. Chandler would represent as well as any man who could be named the prevailing sentiment of the Republican party," if nominated for the presidency.

LIVER

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes disarred, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. MERRELL'S HEPATINE, the great vegetable discovery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to two ounces of bile every time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile, and the effect of even a few doses upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking HEPATINE in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

BLOOD

Grave mistakes are made in the treatment of all diseases that arise from poison in the blood. Not one case of Scrofula, Syphilis, White Swelling, Ulcerous Sores and Skin Disease in a thousand, is treated without the use of Mercury in some form. Mercury rots the bones, and the diseases it produces are worse than any other kind of blood or skin disease can be. DR. PEMBERTON'S STILLINGIA AND QUEEN'S DELIGHT is the only medicine upon earth that gives hope of recovery from Scrofula, Syphilis, Mercurial diseases, Old Sores, Ulcers, Mercurial rheumatism, and all blood diseases, when the system is badly wrecked and poisoned with Mercury, or any impurity of the blood. For purely vegetable and harmless can be found in it.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Hutzler Bros., of Baltimore, have a drummers license.

——The eastern mail now closes at 2:50 p. m.

——The northern way mail was one hour behind time yesterday noon.

——Mr. Blake was on the street yesterday, and is looking quite well again.

——A team started to run on Wilmington street yesterday morning, but the busy multitude lounging around raised their voices in a mighty shout, and the fleeting steeds, like Colonel Crockett's coon, come down at once.

——There is a small cavity in the roadway at the corner of Lenoir and Salisbury streets, that appears to occupy nobody's attention at present. It may not continue long so though, for some accident is bound to happen there and then the city's interest will be aroused as to the pecuniary nature of the case.

Knights of Honor.

A regular meeting of Oak City Lodge, No. 419, Knights of Honor this evening at 8 o'clock.

U. S. Federal Court.

There were numerous submissions made in this court yesterday. The record was not made up and it was impossible to get a report of the proceedings. Court meets again at 10½ a. m. to-day.

Off the Track.

Yesterday afternoon the freight train going north ran off the track at Forestville, a switch being open. No especial damage was done, but the mail train due here at 8:30 o'clock last evening did not reach here till after 12.

Base Ball.

A match game will be played at the Baptist Grove grounds on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, between the Tecumseh nine and the Junior club. This game promises to be a most interesting one, both clubs being composed of the crack players of the old Swiftfoot, Athletic and Junior clubs forming the two nines. D. T. Adams is Captain of the Tecumseh's and C. A. Separk of the Junoir.

Musical Entertainment.

From the character of the programme it is to be presumed that the citizens of Hillsboro will have a pleasant time at the musical entertainment to be given on the 26th of June by the young ladies of the school superintended by the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock, in that place. The selections are popular as well as good, and consist of excerpts from "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Linda di Chamoux," "Carmen," "Martha," etc. Signor S. D'Anna will preside as conductor.

Law Books.

Alfred Williams & Co., Raleigh, have about five hundred volumes of law books, second hand, but in good condition which they offier at very low prices. The lot embraces standard miscellaneous works and North Carolina Supreme Court Reports. This is a good opportunity for young members of the bar to supply themselves with a practical working law library at a small cost.

Personal.

Major James W. Wilson, President of the Western North Carolina Railroad, lady and daughter, are at the National Hotel.

Past Grand Master Munson, C. M. VanOrsdell, Esq., and Mr. James C. Munds, prominent Masons and leading citizens of Wilmington, were at the National Hotel yesterday, going to attend the Grand Chapter at Durham.

The Accident of a Cart.

Mr. Pomp Bryan and his little boy with Dick Fowler went riding in Pomp's pony wagon. They were going down the hill near Crabtree bridge. The pony slipped and fell; the wagon shafts ran in the ground and precipitated the wagon over the pony's head and the occupants helter skelter. Mr. Bryan clung to his child and suffered a broken arm, and a severe contusion on the head in his efforts to save the little boy. Mr. Fowler (C. Battle) said he "nigh about busted his head, that was the last ride he wanted ever to take in that cart."

Another Centennial.

Franklin county does not purpose letting Charlotte, King's Mountain and all the other places in the State have a centennial, without an effort in that direction also. Consequently the Fourth of July has been chosen for the day upon which to celebrate the Centennial year of the county of Franklin and town of Louisburg. Committees have been appointed to raise the wherewithal to have a good time, and they will at once open subscriptions of money, pigs, turkeys, chickens, lambs, etc., expect to have a museum of curiosities, the Louisburg cornet band, a brass cannon, a torchlight procession, a Martha Washington ball, and other relics.

The association wind up their call as follows: "Let your several townships vie with each other in what you shall do and give. Search your closets and your garrets, fatten your pigs, stir up your local pride, open your pockets, report to the members of the committees in your respective townships, and on the fourth of July come, and let your children come; and long after you are gone, your children's children shall tell of a grand old time in glorious old Franklin, a hundred years ago."

County Commissioners.

This body was again in session on yesterday, all the members being present.

The salary of the County Attorney was fixed at $400 per annum, payable quarterly.

Commissioner Brown was clothed with authority to repair the fence on the Court House square, hang blinds to windows, &c.

Exemption from payment of poll tax, on account of physical disabilities, was granted in a few cases.

Relief from payment of taxes erroneously listed was given.

A large batch of accounts were ordered to be paid, among them the coroner for holding inquests in, or otherwise investigating, five cases, and considerable aid was extended to the outside poor.

Adjourned till the first Monday in July.

Statesville's Excitement---A Robber Band.

Concord Sun.

A private letter from Statesville brings us the intelligence that a band of burglars have just been found and broken up there. The letter was not intended for publication, but we copy from it below:

"Statesville has been in a fever of excitement during the past week over the fact that Melville Millen has proven himself the "boss rascal of the county. Within the past two or three weeks burglaries unnumbered have been committed; and together with three negroes, Alex Bradwell, Chalmers Bell and Melville Miller have been implicated. Chalmers Bell, I believe is only a bonded witness. Millen concocted the whole thing, and was boss of the gang. Bell is at liberty, but Bradwell and the negroes are in jail. Millen has not yet been caught. Saturday night a party of about thirty five men on horses went to get him, but up to this time (Sunday evening) I have not heard the result. He was seen Saturday, by Clayton Stevenson, I believe, and swore he would not be taken alive. The gang, or rather Millen and one of the negroes—Mose Murchison—broke into Charlie Davis' billiard saloon and Tunstall's drug store, taking money, tobacco, wine, cigars, etc.

"Hearing that old man Nick Stikeleather had $1,500 in his house, Millen proposed that they go get it; accordingly he took Bradwell and one of the negroes with him and went to the house; broke in, but didn't get any money. The revenue warehouse was also broken open and several hundred gallons of liquor taken out. The next morning Dr. Campbell found that his buggy had been used the night before, and his harness badly broken. It was found out that Millen had gotten the buggy and harness to use in hauling away the stolen liquor. It is said that there is already enough evidence to hang Millen and Bradwell—don't know whether it is true or not; but suppose it is, for they entered Stikeleather's house and run part of the family out."

Millen is a son of the late distinguished divine, Dr. Millen, former president of Concord (now Simonton) Female College. Bradwell is a son of Dr. Bradwell, proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel. Chalmers Bell, it seems, is only held as a witness.

Blue-Glass.

The latest Boston medical idea is an elaboration of the blue-glass theory. Sunlight is thrown into water through colored lenses, and thus curative qualities are imparted to the water. The inventor says so, at least. "The sun's rays," he explains, "are composed of actual substances, with their exquisite and wonderful chemical powers, and, aided by spectrum analysis, I have been able to give the leading elements that compose each color. Each color has its own distinct power to heal." Red, orange, and yellow are warm colors, and directly exciting in their nature, while blue and violet are soothing. His manner of applying these remedies is as follows: "Health comes from the equilibrium of colors in the human system, and whenever any one color is so much in excess as to produce disease, harmony must be brought about by finding the color which is its chemical affinity. Thus, if a person abounds in redness, as in red hair and flushed skin, he needs blue light. Whenever the blue prevails too much, so as to give blue veins, blue finger nails, and a pale, cold condition, the warm red and orange light is needed. When a person has too great a nervous activity, the yellow, together with some red elements of his system, are too active, and he needs the violet and blue elements of sunlight to harmonize his forces and act as delightful nervines." Converts to this new school of medicine suspend colored lenses over bowls of water, and drink the warm fluid.

Turtle Soup.

Mr. Mabrey, the prince of caterers, who runs the Green Front, Pepper house, on Hargett Street will serve his guests and customers generally, to-day and to morrow with the delicious turtle soup, families supplied, call at 11 o'clock, a. m.

Lively Stock Operations.

The current of recent events has given great impetus to business in Wall street, and many successful turns are reported where immense profits are made in short periods. The most successful way that we have heard of yet for operating in stocks is by the Combination Method of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, New York. By this system thousands of orders in various sums are pooled into one vast capital and operated under the most experienced and skilful management, thus, securing to each shareholder superior advantages and profits, not possible in any other way. Profits are paid at end of 30 days. A gentleman in Boston made $747.30 on an investment of $100. Many others are doing as well or better. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with equal proportionate success by this combination or Co-operative Method. $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent. on the stock; $100 would return $900, or 9 per cent. during the month, and so on, according to the market. The new circular contains "two unerring rules for success" and full information, so that any one can operate with profit. Stocks and bonds wanted. Deposits received. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y. City.

Fragrant and Delicate Odors.

Each flower contains a fragrant substance, and the separation of this substance in a manner so as to retain all of its sweetness, requires the greatest experience and care. Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes are prepared by a process that so retains their natural fragrance.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more important that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

The old patron Dutch Saint, whose name is honored from the extreme Orient to the Ultima Thule, never had a more striking illustration than in the honor of giving name to the "St. Nicholas" hotel of New York, an establishment associated in the minds of tens of thousands with the most profuse and elegant hospitality. Still in the van, this hotel unites all the best features of the present with the charming traditions of the past. The reduction of prices in connection with the excellence of accommodations makes it the cheapest hotel in the country.

The Rich California Banker.

When it had become known that one of the richest California bankers had left the Pacific Coast and transferred his base of operations to the New York Stock Exchange all the shrewd financiers watched his course with keen interest to see how he would succeed. The result has emphatically proved the wealthy banker's sagacity. Besides having a much wider and more promising field to operate in, he is known to have been in several stock combinations that paid immense profits. By the combination method of operating in stocks Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., unite orders of thousands of customers, in different sums, into one vast capital, and operate them as a mighty whole, dividing profits pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with great success in these pools. $25 would pay $100 profit. $500 would make $5,000 or 10 per cent. on the stock during the month. Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular (mailed free) gives "two unerring rules for success," and full particulars, so that any one can operate in stocks, and make money. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Apply to Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

Unheard of Bargains!

Who tries his best to please his friends
And in his labors never ends,
Bargains he'll give you when you call
For No. 10 is all and all.
Of other houses you hear them talk;
In Fayetteville street just take a walk
And only ask for No. 10,
Kept by the most ingenious of men,
And when his friends by chance drop in
Then forth he comes, Lord what a grin,
And to their wondering eyes displays
Such heaps of brackets and window shades.
His pictures are exposed to public view
And a variety of cord to suspend them too,
His looking glasses and toilet cases
Will help adorn your forms and faces;
Picture frames and mouldings too
In great variety, black, brown and blue.
His window cornices and lambrequins fine,
Will make your rooms and parlor shine.
Perforated mottoes, and white holly baskets.
And every other sort of stuff,
Of which he hopes to have enough.
So now he bids you all adieu
And wishes a happy new year too,
And not forget
